Hi!
Happy New Year!
So, here I am in Amsterdam surrounded by Low Utopia!

You'd love it Brewster, there's low everything here. T-shirts, butter dishes, even sexual paraphernalia. The city is still recuperating from New Year's Eve - lots of firecrackers going off everywhere. Kinda weird coming from Israel where, if there were explosions in the central station troops would be called in - XYY000 Punks

"Chincoteague" ponies have been on Assateague Island for perhaps 200 years. They must forage for food all year. A salty diet and a rigorous environment have shaped them into small, hardy animals - well suited to life on Assateague. Hounded by biting insects and summer heat, they often seek relief in waters of the bay.

Dear Brewster - 9 Apr 91

Greetings from the desert - I'm in Baja for a week with Joann Stock field assisting - That means she writes on maps, takes measurements and collects rock samples and I sweat alot, collect blisters and keep her company - Not bad for a week's work - But it really is rigorous — so... I need a vacation when I get back from my vacation -

We should be home before you get this (Steve meets me in San Diego this weekend) + I may be gone the following week (Apr. 22) Come visit again sometime after that - I'll talk to you e-mail -

Sincerely -

Karen

Dear Brewy
we get this influx of postcards advertising art shows everyday at the Gallery, so I'm recycling. I liked the fruit & vegetable lips. So how are you? I'm supposed to be making Lasagne, writing a paper, and doing my laundry — but its too lovely to have a lazy morning with coffee & NPR. What are you going to be for Halloween? I'm going to be a bunch of grapes.

School is going well, I'm getting faster at writing papers; that helps. Next semester I have to take statistics. I'm a little scared...

I liked your last postcard about feminine. I think part of whats feminine is being adaptable/adaptive, and understanding the importantce of paradoxes. I'd like to hear what else people come up with. I really do miss you. My love, Ene

GEORGE GIPP

From the time he first arrived in South Bend in 1916 until his senior season when he helped the Irish complete a[n] [u]nbeaten season just a few weeks prior to his death – [a]ge Gipp's performances on the football field m[a]de him not only the most famous, but also quite probably the most talented all-around player in Notre Dame history.

Portrayed in a movie by President Ronald Reagan, Gipp still holds a handful of Notre Dame records in a variety of categories. He contracted strep throat while helping the Irish defeat Northwestern late in his senior season. Three weeks later he was dead.

While on his deathbed, Gipp made his often-repeated plea to coach Knute Rockne, "Some time, Rock, when the team's up against it, when things are wrong . . . tell them to go in there with all they've got and win just one for the Gipper. I don't know where I'll be then, Rock. But I'll know about it, and I'll be happy."

Most of what I've seen of Chicago has been 3AM in the Loop & am suitably impressed. The cops are very macho, while they're being nice & nasty. Every once in a while it occurs to me I'm in Illinois, and I am agog. But they do have good chinese food. We've made eleven pictures in fourteen days, and my boss is turning out to be a real-estate. Not bad for a first business trip. Love Liz

Dear Brewster,

Just a note to let you know we're back home safe and sound and to thank you once again for all the hospitality you showed us up in Boston. Carol and I have remarked to each other how friendly everyone in your house was and how much we enjoyed meeting Alice. I've been telling my friends who've asked all about our day of sailing, basking in their ooh's and ah's of vicarious pleasure. I wish you many more days like it this summer.

How was the Clearwater festival? I didn't have a chance to ask you when

No matter where you go, there's someone waiting to sell you a stupid postcard.

Leipzig's a pretty cool place. Birthplace of Wagner, deathplace of Bach. Most of german intellectual history has tramped through here at one time or another.

I'm staying with a bunch of journalism students at Karl-Marx-University (no doubt soon to be renamed). So the logical question to solve is what is a socialist journalist. No good answers yet, I'm not sure there are any. Full report upon my return.

Steve should be showing up there any day now. Please expect him, and show him to my room. See you soon.

Hey, it looks like the Golden Gate Bridge! And there are cable cars everywhere! Where am I, you ask? Is it San Francisco? No, it's Lisbon, Portugal! But, there are remarkable similarities between the cities. It's even more hilly here and cable cars are everywhere winding through the narrow cobbled streets at breakneck speeds (truly insane drivers here!!) It has the feel of a small village rather than a big city. On all the small streets are houses overflowing with laundry on the balconies. Somehow very beautiful and romantic! Now, off to north for a few days. Hope all is well - looks like I'm coming back in May to move out of my apartment. Lots of love, Teresa

An awfully pretty sunset provides dramatic lighting as jumbo shrimp sizzle on a barbeque at this campsite on the outskirts of Reno, Nevada. Mesquite-flavored charcoal is used to give the food an authentic western taste.

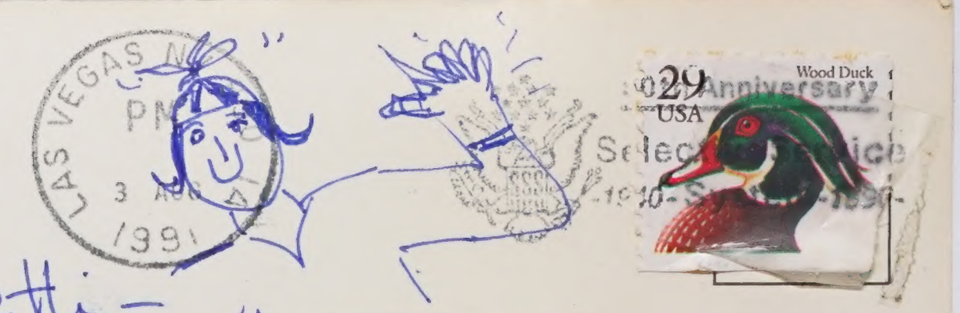
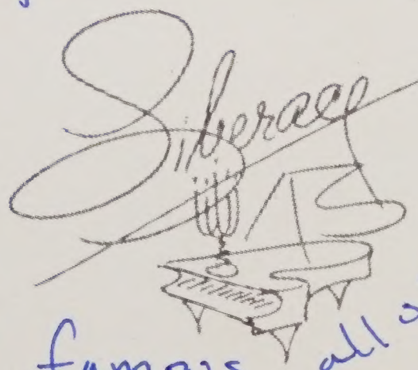
"Mr. Showmanship" in front of case filled with some of his million dollar costume wardrobe. Hand-jeweled silks, satins, and brocades, with some jackets weighing up to 60 pounds.



Hello!

Fun Siggraph. Met Karl Simrose Patti — at the place!



The Brewster is famous all over!

This was a fabulous museum!

Unfortunately — the largest rhinestone in the world was out on loan... Perfect place for a computer conference — We are: 1) used to being in dark air conditioned rooms anyway 2) Not as a rule, gamblers, so we save $ and 3) LV has perfect examples of early 80's rendering subjects — tacky, tacky, tacky...!
